Youth Expo Opens Today

By BETTY JEAN CLAY
Sun Staff Writer

Youth Exposition '71, the thirteenth annual salute to homemaking skills of future wives and mothers and both boys and girls in caring for and raising livestock with good management practices in preparation for becoming tomorrow's community leaders, opens today.

Business firms and individuals from all over the county have contributed $4,500 to defray expenses of this showcase of youth talent with approximately $3,500 of this amount being offered in premium prizes to the exhibitors in the girls in the Dress Revue and boys as well as girls in the livestock events to be judged Saturday at the Corsicana Livestock Commission Company on E. Hwy 31.

Every fair or exposition has to have "reigning royalty" and the Youth Exposition is no exception. In fact, the selection of a queen to preside over the festivities by tradition is the first step in getting the youth fair under way.

Tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium of Navarro Junior College, eight hopefuls will make their spotlighted entrance on the arms of the escort of their choice to the stage where one will be annointed with the sparkling tiara of her official office.

The first and second runners-up will be ranking princesses of the coronation court and their identity will precede the announcement by Miss Morganna Lowe, a former queen, who will serve as mistress of ceremonies for the coronation pageant and the Girls Dress Revue to follow immediately.

The 1971 Queen's first official act will be to reign over the Dress Revue as the 146 contestants from 4-H Clubs and schools begin the fashion parade across stage modelling the garments each young miss constructed for the Youth Exposition judging.

Entertainment will be provided by an increasingly popular duo: Vocalist Bobby Grayson and Organist Randall Barnes, both students at Corsicana High School.

This year's coronation tableu and fashion parade has as its theme "Feminity's Freedom".

Judging of the four livestock events begins Saturday at 9 a.m. with swine, followed by breeding heifers at 9:30 a.m., club steers at 10 a.m. and ending with sheep at 10:30 a.m. Dennis White from Texas A&M University will judge livestock.

The Exposition Queen will present the ribbons and pennants to the prize winning animals and their owner-handlers to climax each event upon completion of the judge's evaluations.

Hoping to wear the crown of Exposition Queen, succeeding to the title captured in 1970 by Miss Valeria Gaines of Blooming Grove are these eight nominees of either their school's Future Homemakers of America chapter, or the sweetheart of a Future Farmers of America chapter:

Nominated as queen by FHA chapters are: Sandra Kent, Mildred, Paula Hooser, Frost; Mary Frances Carroll, Blooming Grove; Christy Crawford, Kerens; Linda McCrory, Dawson; Sally Edgar, Corsicana Junior chapter; Fanny Alonzo, Corsicana Senior chapter; and Suzanne Seale, nominee as the sweeheart of the Corsicana FFA chapter.

Hog Cholera Quarantine To Affect Entire State

The Texas Animal Health Commission has issued a directive, effective Monday, placing the entire state under a hog cholera quarantine according to Gene Sears, county extension agent.

The quarantine, which will last 60 days unless changed, is due to the rapid increases in hog cholera cases throughout the state and the commission's inspectors difficulty in isolating infected herds, Sears said.

As a result of the quarantine, hogs cannot be shipped to packing houses without a permit for movement. To enforce this, inspectors from the Health Commission will begin to patrol the highways on Monday.

Sears pointed out that owners will be subject to a fine and punishment if their hogs are transported for any other reason.

The existence of hog cholera in Navarro County became apparent in early March. At that time Sears presented in his Daily Sun column, Farm Facts, precautions that farmers could take to prevent contamination of their herds.

He said, "Producers should isolate their herds as much as possible by not introducing suspect animals onto the premises. The use of rubber boots when entering the facilities and disinfectant is also advisable for the prevention of transporting the organism. When going from one hog premise to another, it would be adviseble to change clothing and disinfect boots to prevent contamination."

"If anyone suspects that they have a diseased animal, they should notify me or a veterinarian immediately," Sears id. He added, "If an inspector can see the animal prior to death, the owner will be reimbursed at market value."

Laos Operation Costly

Saigon Loses 50% Of Total Forces

SAIGON (AP) — The 45-day campaign in Laos cost the South Vietnamese nearly 10,000 casualties or almost 50 per cent of the total force committed, highly placed military sources said today.

The sources said 3,800 South Vietnamese troops were killed, 775 missing and 5,200 wounded, nearly double what the Saigon government has reported.

These sources said the communiques from South Vietnamese headquarters being given to newsmen are lagging or are deliberately not reporting the true losses.

The latest official figures list 1,146 troops killed, 245 missing and 4,235 wounded.

At the same time, South Vietnamese headquarters is reporting nearly 14,000 North Vietnamese troops killed. A large proportion of these are credited to U.S. bombers and helicopter gunships, but the U.S. Command in a report last Saturday said "cumulative results of U.S. air operations in support of the South Vietnamese ... indicate 3,600 enemy troops reported killed by air."

The American command said the tabulation was based on reports from air crews, forward air controllers and South Vietnamese forces.

Lt. Col. Do Viet, an official spokesman, announced that the last of the 22,000 South Vietnamese troops who invaded Laos had returned to South Vietnam.

But Associated Press correspondent Michael Putzel reported from the front that South Vietnamese marines were ordered back to the Co Roc ridge just inside Laos this afternoon to prevent the enemy from using it to shell allied bases on the Vietnamese side of the border.

The marines had been pulled off the ridge earlier while U.S. B52 bombers pounded the area. Then they were ordered back. But the North Vietnamese fired a 20-round artillery barrage at the South Vietnamese forward command post at Ham Nghi, and U.S. officers said the rounds came from Co Roc. There was no report of casualties or damage.

On the battlefields, U.S. fighter-bombers and rocket-firing helicopter gunships exchanged fire Wednesday with a column of 24 North Vietnamese tanks trying to upset the pullback of South Vietnamese and American forces away from the border to rear bases.

The command reported eight Americans killed and 12 wounded in other actions in the northwest corner of South Vietnam. The casualties occurred in three helicopters shot down, two small ground attacks, an ambush and two shelling attacks.

The U.S. Command said a total of 92 American helicopters now have been lost in the campaign, with 66 Americans killed, 28 missing and 79 wounded.

House Committee Eyes Penny Tax on Checks

AUSTIN (AP)—Texans would pay a penny tax every time they write a check under a revenue proposal lodged in a House subcommittee today.

Rep. Curtis Graves of Houston told the House Tax Committee Wednesday his bill would raise $80 million to $100 million a year.

Banks would collect the tax just as they do their monthly service charges, by debiting their customers' accounts.

The Texas Bankers Association said Graves' bill would raise only $9 million or $10 million a year and would be a heavy burden for the banks to bear.

"This is a very equitable tax," Graves said.

"It taxes those individuals who can afford to pay. If you have more money, you write more checks. On the other hand, if you are very poor, you don't have a checking account."

Retail Sales Here Show Big Increase

Retail sales in Corsicana increased by a giant 12.8 percent in the last quarter of 1970, and by a healthy 6.67 percent for all of 1970, according to figures released today by City Secretary Nelda Neal.

These increases are based on the one-percent city sales tax revenue returned to Corsicana by the State.

The city has received a check of $90,072.76 for the fourth quarter of 1970.

In the same quarter fo 1969 the city received only $79,821.98. Thus, an increase of $10,250.78 for the city treasury that indicates an additinal $1,025,078 was spent with local retail stores.

This last quarter report brings the total collected by the city for 1970 to $306,478.17—up $19,179.44 from the $287,298.73 collected in 1969.

$250 Raised For Choir From Mexia

Slightly more than $250 had been raised at presstime today for the "Sunshine Choir" of retarded children and youths from Mexia State School in a drive by The Daily Sun.

The total included a $150 check submitted by a donor who asked to have the name withheld from publicity.

In addition, two ladies gave a half a dozen books of trading stamps, and another family donated a phonograph—the phonograph on which daily intermittent concerts of records by The Sunshine Choir are played at The Daily Sun.

Sam Pendergrast, editor of The Daily Sun and coordinator of the local drive to help get a traveling bus for the busy choir, asked that former donors in the drive by The Sun call him and give him their names and addresses, so that they can be thanked formally by The Sunshine Choir. Pendergrast will accept calls at his office (872-2553) most hours of the day and evening. "In the first rush of accepting donations, we neglected to record some names, and I know The Sun shine Choir will want to acknowledge all gifts," he said.

Four professionally produced LP records by the choir are available to donors at The Daily Sun, including recordings of literally dozens of well-known songs, mostly sacred and inspirational.

Power Pole Catches Fire

Corsicana firemen extinguished a fire atop a power line pole Thursday at 6:15 a.m. near Hervey Motor Co. at the Y intersection of S. Hwys 287 and 75. A power interruption of short duration resulted from the fire which burned off a section of a cross-arm on the pole.

Capt. Matthews said a call five minutes before reported a "telephone pole" fire at S. 20th St. and W. 13th Ave., but no fire was found in that vicinity.

Two fire runs were made Wednesday; firemen extinguished trash burning at 3:47 p.m. at Aubrey's Imports, S. 7th St. at E..11th Ave., where the foreign car agency's garage shops had burned in a fire and burglary about two weeks ago. At 3:05 p.m. firemen extinguished a fire in a water heater closet at the A.V. Sims residence, 1522 W. Park Ave. Firemen said the flames from the water heater's unit burned the closet door and a spot in the ceiling over the vent pipe about four inches in diameter.

The April 1 deadline for purchasing license plates is only seven days away.

For convenience of citizens, the Navarro County Tax Assessor-Collectors office will be open Saturday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., according to Jerry S. Scott, county tax-assessor collector.

He said that a renewal registration card or the owner's vehicle title and a 1970 license receipt will be required to purchase license plates.

Scott added payment can be made by check, money order or cash.

Meet Your City Attorney Candidates

Stewart Thinks The City Should Be 'No. 1 Client'

(NOTE: This is the first of two surveys of candidates for the position of city attorney in the Municipal Election April 6. The other story will appear tomorrow in The Daily Sun.)

By SAM PENDERGRAST
Editor of The Sun

The name of Glenn Stewart will be listed first on the April 6 ballot as a candidate for the position of city attorney, as a result of a drawing for ballot position.

Stewart, 44, who lives at 1612 North 25th St., is a lifetime resident of Corsicana.

He was graduated from Corsicana High School, Navarro Junior College, and the Baylor University Law School (in 1952).

He has spent most of his career in the general practice of law, except for four years as an agent with the Federal Bureau of Investigation, froom 1954-58.

Stewart is currently employed in the general practice of law and serves as assistant to the Navarro County criminal district attorney.

His only other experience as a political candidate was ten years ago, when he ran unsuccessfully against the present city attorney.

Asked by The Daily Sun why he is interested in running for the office of city attorney, Stewart said "I think it would help my career as an attorney, and it would give me an opportunity to be more closely involved in local government activities.

"Let me put it this way," he continued; "government in general, and local government in particular, are facing new and more demanding problems. In Corsicana, we are electing two new commissioners and a new mayor, along with a city tax assessor, and I think it would be beneficial to the City to have new members of the team and would add vigor and a new direction to the solution of these problems."

Asked what he thought of pending legislation on an ethics bill in Austin which could require, if passed, that elective officials disclose financial dealings and make public income tax reports, Stewart said "Well, there are so many bills in the hopper down there I don't know how to comment on any special one, except to say that it's a sad commentary on the elective system when an elective official in an office of trust must account for his own financial condition."

Stewart and his opponent both prepared formal answers to written answers to four questions

Aunt Louise

It would be impossible for me to print the names of ALL the nice people who have brought Bibles by the plant to be given to the Mexia State School for their weekly Bible Class for the older people. Mrs. Frances Cushman bought a brand new one and made a special trip to bring it by. Luck was with me and I happened to be in. We had a delightful visit. God bless all of you.

Reverend Eugene Wood, Westminster Presbyterian Church, stopped by my desk and asked if they needed any more and I told him yes. He made a note, so I'm sure he will help us out. Mr. Wood's acts of kindness need no publicity..they speak for themselves.

Plan today to attend the fund raising Spaghetti Supper to be held tomorrow night at the Emhouse Community Center starting at 6:00 p.m. Adults $1.00 and children fifty cents...all you can eat!

"Dear Aunt Louise, I know you can't print all of my letters so please publish what you can. I have three daughters, two granddaughters, and a new grandson, John Wallace Armstrong III, born March 8th. My daughter lives in West Columbia, Texas and I stayed with her and helped out when he was born. My daughter's husband teaches at the High School there and on his way to the school he passes by the cemetery with a high fence around it. I, my youngest daughter and he were passing by the cemetery one day and she asked me if I knew why they had the high fence around the cemetery. I told her I did not. She replied, "Because people are dieing to get in there." While in Starks, Louisiana recently we passed a tree made of colored glass bottles. It was very eye-catching. Just wanted you to know I look forward to the days your column appears in the paper and how much we enjoy it." signed, Sincerely, A Friend.

Thank you for writing. I did omit some of your letter...the kind words were appreciated though, and do write again.

Personal to "Name withheld". I returned your letter to you and enclosed a stamp. I believe it should be addressed to Letter to the Editor as I sorta believe it would be "out of place" in this column. Forgive me if I am wrong. Nice of you to think of me.

Mark, I couldn't answer your question so I called Marshall Thixton who used to own a coin shop located on Beaton Street. He said the dates, condition of bills or coins determines their value when sold. You can buy a book on this subject from Elmer Pryor at the Post Office Newspaper and Magazine Stand.

Finally contacted Joe Jameson at their home by phone. He and his wife, Dolly went to Willow Beach Resort, Arizona, located on Lake Mohave within Lake Mead National Recreational Area, Home of the Trophy Trout...midway between Kingman, Arizona and Las Vegas, Nevada...Year round fishing there. Dolly caught three tout which weighed over five pounds each. Joe caught a "cold". Smile. They had to cut their trip short due to the illness of Dolly's father, J. A. Cruson, Evergreen Convalescent Home.

Mrs. Jim Jameson who lives in Las Vegas, Nevada, her daughter, Elizabeth Ann, are here visiting Grandpa Joe and Grandma Dolly. She will be in Arp, Texas visiting her parents, the Duckworths, by the time this column appears.

Was glad to see in the paper that L. B. Sparkman had been dismissed from the hospital. Catch a big 'un soon, L. B.

We had several reports that the fish were biting at Navarro Mills, Cedar Creek and Lake Whitney. When we have several warm days in a row I am "toying" with the idea of getting sick. I am afraid the excuse that some people use on their boss would not work in my case. With my luck I'd get caught anyway. If I caught a fish he'd hear me holler all the way to the plant no matter where I was fishing. He's too nice to tell a fib to. I'll get to go fishing one of these days.

This is our last plea for Bibles for the Mexia State Home for the study group held weekly for the older group. So many folks have called and said that they had a Bible they would like to contribute but did not have transportation to bring them to the plant. If you can't bring them by lease call Mrs. Patsy Harmon, 872-1136. She called and volunteered to pick them up. Do call as soon as possible as we'd like to deliver them by Friday night. Tucker Sutherland, publisher, and the entire staff appreciates the response we've had for the help all of you have given for this worthy cause.

While in Dyer's last week on the third floor we ran into a dear friend and former neighbor, Mrs. D. (Hallie) Parham. Hallie now lives in Waco and when she gets a chance to come over for a visit, time runs short and she does not get to see all of her friends that she'd like to. She said, "Aunt Louise, would you please tell them hello for me in your column?"

By the way Mr. Cook: You owe me a cup of coffee as she subscribed to the Daily Sun so she could keep up with the local news. Nice?

Met a newcomer to our city at the B&PW's Country Supper Saturday night March 13th ... Margaret Sullivan, new manager of Kress Store. She hails from San Antonio. Do go by and welcome her to Corsicana.

I've been so busy working, spring cleaning, etc., ... Son Mike's wedding comes up June 5th you know ... I'm "tuckered out!" Did get time to run by Kirby's Auto, 800 West Second. While working on a lay-out with Mrs. Kirby, Mr. Kirby inspected my car. The faithful '64 passed, thank goodness! If you have an orange sticker this is the month! Don't wait until the last minute ... and don't say I didn't remind you.

Speaking of the 'ole Ford. You know G. H. Weatherby ... I did get a bargain. With two boys and yours truly at the wheel it has been through the mill, so to speak. It still runs like a top. It has been involved in FIVE wrecks. THREE of them the other people were at fault. Do wish we could solve the ever present problem that EVERYBODY be compelled, at least to carry liability insurance. For awhile there Cooper-Eady & Judson hated to see me coming into the office. Smile!

"Dear Aunt Louise, I always look forward to Thursday and Sunday papers so I can read the news of our residents, surrounding communities etc. You write great fishing yarns, especially like the ones that got away ... that was the granddaddy of 'em all. My family and I always enjoy reading your down-to-earth news of our friends and neighbors and professional business associates that makes Corsicana a big section of the "Golden Circle" and the people we encounter in our everyday life. I know you must be a kind person and have feeling and compassion for life. Many of us are concerned on the tragic animal population explosion of our four-footed friends, the dogs and cats. In the United States we continue to breed puppies and kittens at the rate of 10,000 per hour annually. We cannot provide homes for this host of animals. Many of these are the SURPLUS. Born to suffer a slow death of starvation, injury or disease by being UNWANTED. Many will no doubt enter some of our Research and Medical Institutions where most animals die within the walls there ... dying a slow death over a period of months or even years. A mother wants to have her children come into contact with the beginning of life (she also takes them to an euthanasia chamber to show them the ending of life). I hope this poem will make pet owners aware of the dog and cat population explosion and how we can help to STOP some of the needless pain and suffering to them.

PUSSY CAT - PUSSY CAT

Pussy Cat, Pussy Cat
Where have you strayed?
I've been to the Vet
To get myself SPAYED.
Pussy Cat, Pussy Cat,
Please tell me why?
(The cat sat down sadly and said with a sigh).
You may not have noticed, but all through the land
The cat population is quite out of hand.
There are too many of us,
And so that is why
People leave kittens by
Roadsides to die.
There is just ONE solution
To this situation:
We must limit the number
Of cats in the nation.
So, I make this suggestion
To all female pets
Make SPAYING appointments
With your local VETS."

Signed, a friendly reader who enjoys your column, Norma Hammonds, 3004 W. 4th Ave., City.

Thanks for writing. The twins were given a Collie dog when they were two years old. They named her "Squeaky." That was our solution and she lived to be THIRTEEN years old.

Hope the next card or letter is from YOU. See you Sunday!

Parable Of The Talents Teaches Important Truth

A Distraught World Today Looks to Bible for Guidance — Duty to God and Man Imperative if We are to Win Battle over World Chaos

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

We live in an age that loves activity. To wait for anything is a trial for most of us, yet our Christian faith assures us that Jesus Christ will some day return to the earth as, almost two thousands years ago, he ascended into heaven.

In the meantime we are to wait, and this is not congenial for most of us.

Fidelity And Patience

The International Sunday School Lesson for March 28 is entitled "Faithful in All Things." This does not mean that we are to lie back and take our ease until the Lord returns. We are to be active. This Sunday School Lesson deals with activities which rest upon us not only as a duty but as an opportunity to find real happiness.

The parable employed to teach this lesson is known as the Parable of the Talents. We are not exactly sure as to the value of a talent, but it represented considerable wealth. Today we often use the word to describe one's inborn efficiency. We may say that a person has distinct talent as a musician or artist or businessman. Last week's lesson dealt with the attitude that a Christian believer is to maintain as he waits for the coming of the Lord. This lesson of March 28 deals with the activity in which one is to engage as he awaits the Lord's coming.

All people do not have the same talents. Implied in the lesson is the assumption that a man should use his talents as he awaits the return of the Lord and the consummation of the kingdom of God.

In this passage of Scripture (Matthew 25:14-30) Jesus gives the picture of a wealthy man who divides a large sum of wealth among certain of his servants. "Unto one he gave five talents, to another, two, and to another, one; to every man according to his several ability; and straightway took his journey. Then he that had received the five talents went and traded with the same, and made them other five talents. And likewise he that had received two, he also gained other two. But he that had received one went and digged in the earth, and hid his lord's money."

True Wisdom

At last the day of reckoning arrived. The man who had received five talents came and presented his lord with ten talents. He had administered his lord's wealth wisely. He that received two talents came and delivered two other talents. For both these men the lord's words were: "Well done, good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things; enter thou into the joy of thy lord." But the man who had received one talent was a disgruntled, fault-finding type who impudently announced that since he had no respect for his lord, considering him hard, unjust and probably dishonest, he had hid the one talent he received in the earth. "Lo, there thou hast what is thine," he said to his master.

The master was furious. He called this last servant "wicked and slothful," saying in substance, "If you had no respect for me and I believed all the unworthy matters your mind could conjure up, you should have at least taken my one talent to the bankers whose business it is to conserve and invest. Then at my coming I should have received my one talent with interest."

His sentence was: "Take therefore the talent from him, and give it unto him which hath ten talents. For unto every one that hath shall be given, and he shall have abundance: but from him that hath not shall be taken away even that which he hath. And cast ye the unprofitable servant into outer darkness: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth."

The Second Coming

The master who made this distribution among his servants was a wise, just and honest man. Jesus used the parable to show that we are to be active in our Lord's service as we await the Second Coming. Whatever gifts (talents) we have we must use in the Lord's service. This does not mean that we must become full-time religious workers. It does mean, however, that we shall carry a spirit of righteousness and diligence into everything we do as we serve in the kingdom of God.

But how about taking this one talent and giving it to the person who had turned five talents into ten talents? Two of the topics suggested for this lesson are the same: "Use it or lose it." The activity of Christ's servants would appear to be as follows: Let us try to make ourselves better. Let us seek God's guidance by daily prayer, Scripture-reading and thoughtful meditation upon divine truth. Our lives are either going forward or backward. We live in a world that physically is in constant motion. We are to work with the pattern of Christ's righteousness as our guide until the day when he returns to make the kingdoms of the world his own.

Candidates

presented late Tuesday by The Sun. Stewart's answers follow the questions, printed here in bold-faced capitals:

1. DO YOU THINK THE 15 PER CENT FEE FOR THE CITY ATTORNEY ON COLLECTION OF ALL DELIQUENT CITY TAXES IS A LEGITIMATE AND USEFUL FEE? WHY IS IT PAID IN THIS WAY, DO YOU THINK& AND WOULD YOU SUGGEST ANY CHANGES IN THE AREA OF DELIQUENT TAX COLLECTIONS AS REGARDS THE CITY ATTORNEY?

In my view, it's not a question of legitimate fees. The 15 per cent fee is legitimate. It is sanctioned by State statute and provided for by contract between the City and the collecting attorney. I believe the question of interest is, does the effort expended by the attorney toward collection of deliquent tax justify the 15 per cent fee. I understand there is presently a 15 per cent delinquency in property tax payments due the City of Corsicana. I don't know what percentage of delinquency would be acceptable, but 15 per cent deliquencies on the tax books should enable the attorney to formulate measures to reduce them. The main thing is for the attorney to give this area of City Government proper attention and effort. I would suggest that the next city attorney give this matter high priority among his duties to the City.

It has been traditional in this city to give the City Attorney the contract to collect delinquent taxes as a remuneration of office in addition to the regular salary. The theory being, I think, that the combined compensation would make the city attorney more responsibe and attentive to City business.

2. WHAT DO YOU THINK IS THE NUMBER ONE ISSUE FACING THE CITY ATTORNEY TO BE ELECTED IN APRIL? WHAT WILL BE YOUR APPROACH IN HANDLING THAT PROBLEM OR ISSUE?

I have canvassed separately all the present City commissioners and the mayor relative to what the city attorney in their opinion should be doing or could do to best serve the City. Without exception, they pointed to three areas, but not necessarily in the same order.

One is related to the high percentage of delinquency in payments of street paving assessments. Of approximately $137,000 now due the City for completed paving, about $74,000 is considered delinquent.

I understand the paving fund is a rotating one and no further paving can be done until prior assessments are paid.

Another area is found in delinquent property tax payments, which I discussed above. The other has to do with clearing the City of deserted and abandoned buildings that have deteriorated to the point of becoming eyesores to the community. To combat this, there are two routes available to the City: condemnation and foreclosure for delinquent taxes.

These are major areas of concern for the new city attorney, but the No. 1 issue confronting him is whether he is willing to make the City his No. 1 client. If he is so willing, which I am, then all these problem areas will receive their proper attention. I consider it a worthwhile challenge and honor to represent the City of Corsicana

3. DO YOU THINK THE CITY ATTORNEY SHOULD HAVE AN OFFICE IN ANY NEW CITY HALL TO BE BUILT—THAT IS, WOULD YOU FAVOR A MORE YEARLY FULL—TIME PPSITION, RATHER THAN THE PRESENT SITUATION IN WHICH THE ATTORNEY MAY PRACTICE LAW PRIVATELY AND WORKS FOR THE CITY ON A PART—TIME BASIS?

Not having the benefit of prior service as City Attorney and thereby having an inside look at the issue, I don't hava an educated opinion. It is my thinking, however, that Corsicana's need for legal services does not require the employment of an attorney on a full time basis.

At times the City needs the full services of an attorney but I think this would occur periodically. At present, I don't think the people would agree for the City budget to provide for a full time city attorney.

4. HOW DO YOU FAVOR COLLECTION OF DELINQUENT STREET PAVING ASSESSMENTS? WOULD YOU VIGOROUSLY PROSECUTE IN DELINQUENCY CASES, INCLUDING COURT PROCEEDINGS AGAINST PARTIES SERIOUSLY IN ARREARS?

4. I believe most people owing paving assessments would respond favorably to a personal plea from the City Attorney. Regular payments could be arranged. Legal prosecution should be employed where no cooperation is given by the assessment payor. Hardship cases should receive special consideration.

Village Back in Business

The Village Drive-In Theater in Ennis is back in business after a small twister demolished their screen several weeks ago. On Sunday a crew was on hand to raise the new screen into place at the theater. The new screen weighs 22,500 pounds and is built to withstand winds of 90 knots per hour. The structure is 72 feet wide and stands 53 feet in the air. The screen was built by a firm from Arlington and is one of the most modern in the area. (Sun Staff Photo by Tom Bryant)

Jones Issues Statement On Student Loan Program

STATEMENT
By BEN W. JONES
NJC President

I would like to clarify any misunderstandings that may have arisen from the wire service stories relative to the Coordinating Board's list of colleges where students were delinquent in repaying their Texas Opportunity Plan (TOP) student loans.

Navarro Junior College was one of thirty colleges named Wednesday by the Coordinating Board as delinquent because more than 10 per cent of its students who had received state loans were six months behind in their payments to the State.

If more than 10 per cent of the students who have received TOP loans do not repay on time, no other loans are made to students at the college until the delinquent payment rate drops below 10 per cent.

To further clarify, I would like to say that:

1. Navarro is not in any way delinquent or negligent.

2. The TOP Loan Program is administered by the Coordinating Board.

A. They make loans to the students.

They collect these loans from the students.

3. Navarro has eleven former students who are delinquent in paying back their loans to the State.

A. These former students are now living at some address other than where they were when enrolled at Navarro.

b. Some are working in business.

D. And some are just plain dropouts.

We assist the Coordinating Board in the collection process by furnishing them with the latest information concerning the location of the student. However, the student deals directly with the Coordinating Board in making their payments and the college is not actively involved in the actual collection process. Therefore, we are at times unaware as to the status of an individual with regard to his progress in making payments.

Students qualifying for these loans are from low income families and many are considered "questionable" risks at the time their loan application is forwarded to Austin, therefore increasing chances for an above average delinquency list of students.

There is one basic problem of inequality involved, as I see it: That this penalizes a college for bad loans made to students by the Coordinating Board thereby denying future loans to future students who had nothing to do with the lack of payments to the Coordinating Board by former students.

Since the TOP program began in 1966 two hundred thirty-eight Navarro students have aviled themselves of the loans. Of these 100 are in the repayment process and eleven of these are six months delinquent.

13,151 Register to Vote

A total of 13,151 Navarro County citizens have registered to vote during the 1971-72 voting year according to Jerry S. Scott, county tax assessor and collector.

"It is unusual for this many people to register especially since whis is a non-presidential election year," Scott said. He pointed out that 14,048 citizens registered in 1968, a presidential election year.

Of the total number registered, 374 voters will be under 21. Scott said that this is below the average which was forcast by the Secretary of the State John L. Hill.

The secretary of the state's forecast estimated that four percent of the population in the rural area is between 18 and 21 years of age and that 66 percent of that number would register.

The citizens who registered, will be able to vote in any local, state or national election held between March 1, 1971 and February 28, 1972. Elections scheduled include the school board of trustees election on April 3, the city election on April 6 and the state constitutional amendments election on May 18.

The total number of registered voters in each precinct are: Precinct one, 3,676; precinct two, 3,383; precinct three, 2,746 and precinct four, 3,346.

Both County School Trustee Candidates Running Unopposed

Two candidates will run unopposed in the April 3 Navarro County School Board of Trustees election.

Charles Renfro of Dawson will run for the position in precint 3 and Henry Ray Nicholson of Blooming Grove will run for the position in precinct 4.

Present school board trustees Loyd Hamilton of Eureka in precinct 1, Marvin Henderson of Kerens in precinct 2 and county board member at large J. K. Bradley of Rice are not up for repelection.

The county school board, whose members serve without pay, administer most of the federal programs and the cooperative programs for the county schools with the exception of Corsicana and Kerens, according to J. H. Lanier, county school superintendent.

Additional responsibilities include coordinating transportation for students attending county schools and maintaining district boundaries.

The county school board is not to requred to meet at specified times. "It meets as the necessity arises", Lanier said.

The five school districts that board members represent are Dawson, Frost, Blooming Grove, Rice and Mildred.

Two-Berry Blend Makes Basis for Great Sauces

NOTHING like adding new flavor to old favorites. Want a for-instance? Well, the cranberry folk have done over their staple, cranberry sauce, by combining it with fresh red raspberries. It's a new flavor combination that has a special affinity for many of our favorite foods, such as a warm jellied cranberry-raspberry sauce poured over a puffy omelet. It gives a new dimension to a luncheon or supper favorite, or a breakfast standby.

CRANBERRY-RASPBERRY PUFFY OMELET

6 egg yolks
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
1 tablespoon flour
6 egg whites, stiffly beaten
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 can (1 pound) jellied cranberry-raspberry sauce, melted

Combine first 4 ingredients. Beat well and fold mixture into beaten egg whites.

Heat butter in 10-inch skillet until it sizzles. Pour in egg mixture. Cook without stirring until omelet is brown on the bottom. (Lift set edge and look underneath every few minutes to check.) Then place skillet under broiler and broil until top is golden.

Fold omelet in half; place on a platter. Heat mashed cranberry-raspberry sauce until bubbly; spoon over omelet just before serving. Nice accompanied by popovers.

Serves 6.

Comes a time when a bit of a splurge is called for—a special celebration, an anniversary or such. How about:

FLAMING GAME HENS WITH CRANBERRY-RASPBERRY SAUCE

6 game hens
Salt and pepper
¼ cup melted butter or margarine
Juice and rind of 1 orange
1 can (1 pound) jellied cranberry-raspberry sauce, mashed ½ cup warm brandy

Sprinkle game hens with salt and pepper. Roast in preheated (350°F.) oven 45 minutes.

Combine butter, orange juice and rind and cranberry sauce. Stir over heat until bubbly. Brush some of the sauce over the game hens and roast another 15 minutes. Keep remaining sauce hot.

Place game hens on a platter; spoon warm brandy over hens and set aflame. Serve hens with sauce spooned over them.

Serves 6 a show-off meal.

CRANBERRY-RASPBERRY HAM

1 canned ham (about 5 pounds)
1 can (1 pound) jellied cranberry-raspberry sauce
1 teaspoon dry mustard
¼ teaspoon ground cloves

Remove ham from can; pull off all the gelatin. Cut ham into ½-inch thick slices.

Mix remaining ingredients; spread slices thinly with mixture.

Reassemble slices into ham shape and tie together with string. Pour any remaining cranberry mixture over top of ham. Bake at 325°F. 60 minutes or until ham is heated thoroughly, spooning pan drippings over ham as it roasts. Push a long skewer through ham slices lengthwise; place ham on a platter or lift with a broad spatula. Remove string leaving skewer in place.

Serves 10 to 12.

This makes a nice party buffet choice, especially if it is garnished with parsley and tiny bunches of frosted green grapes.

Basic Egg Dishes Need Some Change of Pace

THE SAME standard breakfast dishes but with an innovation that's one way of enticing the family to a good day's start. The utensils to do the job are important, too.

Eggs scrambled, poached or fried, omelets these should be prepared in a 10-inch, non-stick coated aluminum skillet.

A cheerful table setting, perhaps a few early Spring flowers, steaming hot coffee, and the day begins well.

As a starter:

HERBED SCRAMBLED EGGS, MONTEREY

6 eggs
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon thyme
¼ teaspoon sweet basil
1 cup creamed cottage cheese
2 tablespoons butter

Beat eggs with seasonings. Stir in cottage cheese.

Let Party Tidbits Have Exotic Eastern Accent

THE EASTERN hemisphere imparts its mystery to the wonderful world of flavor, blending its exotic plants and spices with the subtlety a fine artist blends his colors. From the vine leaves and pine nuts of the Near East to the coriander and coconut of the Far East, a wealth of natural materials exists.

It was the professional chefs in Asia, then in Europe, who recognized the value of monosodium glutamate (MSG) as an enhancer of natural flavor and so established its use as a kitchen staple. These days, we rank it with salt and pepper as a flavor basic.

Now down to business with a well-chosen sampling of exotic morsels with an Eastern flavor, the first:

STUFFED GRAPE LEAVES

24 large vine leaves in brine
½ pound ground raw lamb
¼ cup cooked rice
1 medium onion, minced
¼ cup minced parsley
2 teaspoons monosodium glutamate
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons raisins
2 tablespoons pine nuts
2 cups hot bouillon

Rinse vine leaves in warm water and let soak about 1 hour to remove brine.

Combine all ingredients, except vine leaves.

Place a tablespoon of the mixture on each vine leaf. Fold over leaf from each of the sides, then from top to bottom. Place side by side in shallow baking dish with tight fitting cover. Pack tightly. If necessary to make second layer, spread vine leaves between the layers. Add bouillon. Cover. Bake at 300°F. for 1½ hours. Cool; refrigerate.

Next, is a delicious batch of bite-sized goodies with the flavor of hearty Greek moussaka:

GREEK EGGPLANT APPETIZERS

1 small egg plant
3 tablespoons butter
1 tomato, peeled
¼ cup fine dry bread crumbs
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese
1 egg
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1 cup milk
¼ cup chopped green pepper
2 teaspoons monosodium glutamate
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon white wine
¼ cup chopped onion
1 teaspoon salt

Pare eggplant; cut into chunks. Cook in butter in skillet 10 minutes. Combine with remaining ingredients. Blend till smooth in electric blender, doing one half at a time. Turn into a 1½-quart oblong baking dish. Bake 45 minutes at 350 F. Cool; refrigerate.

To serve, cut into ½-inch crosswise slices. Cut each slice into fourths. Serve with sesame seed wafers.

IDEAS from the East—stuffed grape leaves, sates, kebabs, eggplant appetizers—can give a party an exotic accent.

Predicting a Shower? Get Ready with Goodies

By ALICE DENHOFF

DESPITE all the "libs" and the nay-sayers, this Spring has brought its regular deluge of bridal showers, praise be!

So today we're offering a trio of recipes developed with one of these sentimental, feminine events in mind. No doubt about it, bridal showers are among the happiest dates on the Spring calendar and it's fun to honor a special friend with a festive party. Refreshments should be light but attractively tempting.

How about a dessert shower, with sweets that will delight the bride-to-be and other guests. Plan a pretty, appropriate table setting and prepare:

OATMEAL BUTTER COOKIES

- 1 cup butter or margarine
- ¾ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
- 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- ¾ cup quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked

Beat butter until creamy. Gradually add sugar, beating until fluffy. Add flour to creamed mixture; blend well. Stir in oats.

Roll out on lightly floured board or canvas to ⅛-inch thickness. Cut into bells, circles or flowers with floured cookie cutters. Place on lightly greased cookie sheets. Bake at 300°F. 20 to 25 minutes; cool.

If desired, sprinkle with confectioners' sugar. Makes about 4 dozen.

PINK 'N WHITE CANDIES

- ¾ cup butter or margarine
- 2 cups confectioners' sugar
- 2 teaspoons lemon juice
- ½ teaspoon grated lemon rind
- 2 cups quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked
- 2 teaspoon maraschino cherry juice
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped maraschino cherries
- 3 drops red food coloring
- ⅔ cup flaked or shredded coconut

Beat butter until creamy. Gradually add sugar, beating until well blended. Divide mixture in half.

To one half, add the lemon juice, lemon peel and one cup of the oats.

To the remaining half, add cherry juice, chopped cherries, food coloring and the remaining cup oats.

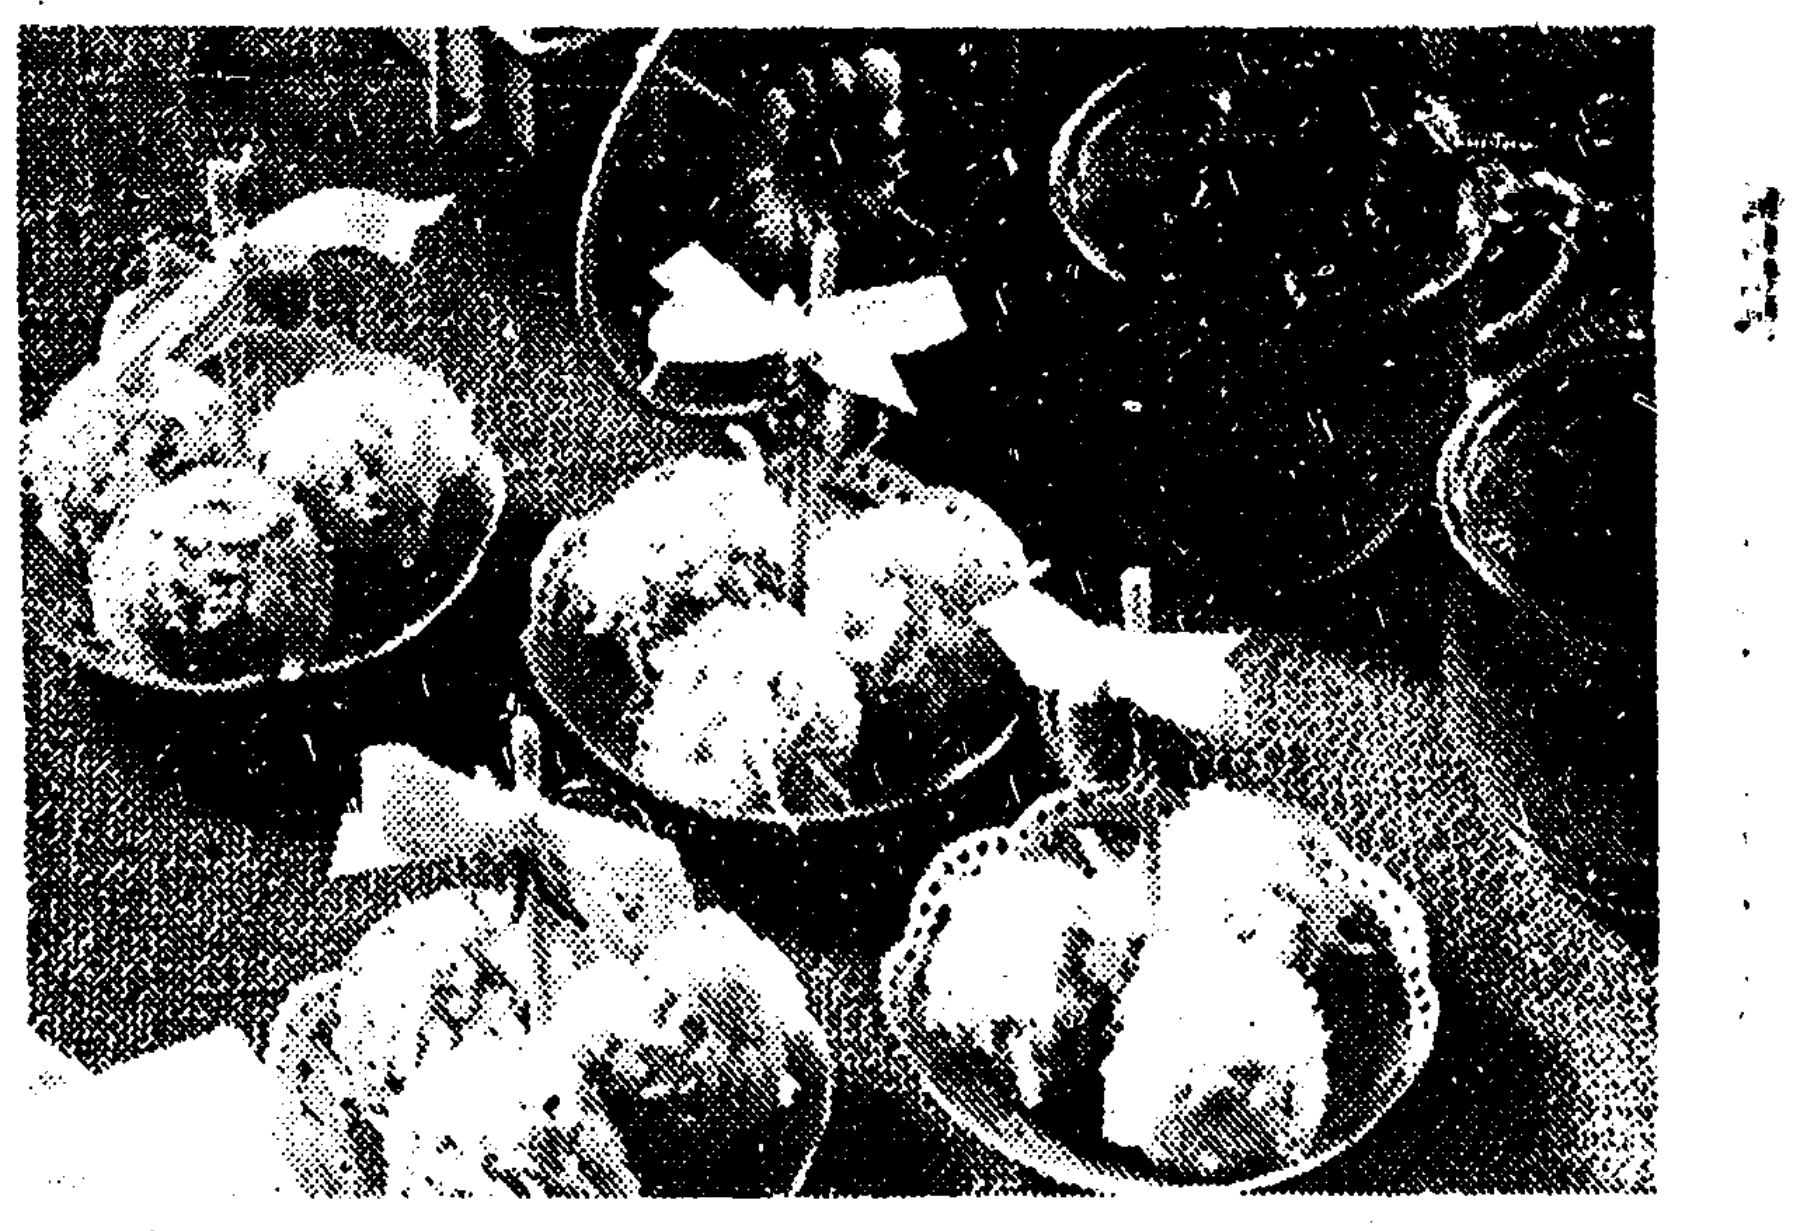
Chill both mixtures 2 to 3 hours. Shape 18 small balls from the lemon mixture and the same number from the cherry mixture; roll in coconut. Refrigerate. Makes 3 dozen delicious candies.

APRICOT BLONDIES

- ½ cup butter or margarine
- 2 cups firmly packed brown sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1½ teaspoons vanilla
- 1¼ cup sifted all-purpose flour
- ½ cup quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked
- ½ cup chopped dried apricots
- ¼ cup chopped walnuts or pecans

Beat butter until creamy; gradually beat in sugar. Blend in eggs and vanilla. Add flour to creamed mixture; blend well. Stir in remaining ingredients.

Divide dough in half. Spread each half in an 8-inch square baking pan. Bake 20 to 25 minutes at 350°F. Cool; cut into 32 squares.



OATMEAL butter cookies in wedding bell and flower shapes and coconut confections set decor for bridal shower.

Meet Your School Board Candidates

Neilan French

(NOTE: this is the fifth in a series of seven interviews with School Board candidates, appearing daily in the order in which the candidates' names will be listed on the April 3 ballot. Responses were to both written and oral questions selected by The Daily Sun. All candidates will run at large, rather than for specific seats.)

By SAM PENDERGRAST
Editor of The Sun

Neilan French, 32, of 2911 West Second in Corsicana, is another candidate for the Board of Trustees of Corsicana Public Schools.

The assistant manager of the Federal Land Bank Association here, he holds a Bachelor of Science degree from East Texas State University.

He has been a resident of Corsicana for 12 years and has no children.

French is a member of the Optimists Club and a participant in the Navarro County Youth Exposition. He is a member of the College Hill Church of Christ.

French told The Daily Sun "I don't have any ax to grind. I just hope I have something to contribute." He was among the first candidates to file for one of the three vacancies on the Board to be filled April 3.

In answer to a question about what, if anything he thinks should be done with vacated school buildings—such as the former Jackson High School Building—and what restrictions he feels should be placed on the non-school use of such buildings, French said "Just for giving it to somebody just for the sake of giving it, I'd say no. But if it definitely could not be used by the school system for some purpose of its own, then something might be considered. I wouldn't say what without further study of any specific suggestion.

"It should be closely controlled and administered by the school system."

Asked if he thinks there is too much, too little or just about the right emphasis on athletics in the total school program, French said "I feel that there is enough, and I would maintain the status quo as the program is right now."

In the written part of the survey, in which each candidate had a weekend to consider and write his views, French's answers (with the questions printed here in bold-faced type) were:

1. Do you think it would be appropriate to have a state law making it impossible to fire teachers without giving them two years' notice?

No, A law of this nature would be impractical.

2. How much sex education, if any, do you think should be a part of the curriculum of Corsicana schools?

The basic biological functions of life should be taught through a controlled medium such as the public schools.

3. Do you anticipate any changes in school buildings or locations in the foreseeable future? If so, what kind of changes would you recommend?

Existing buildings should be updated and kept in good repair until such time as location or condition would warrant a change.

4. Do you think the nongraded approach has been helpful at Corsicana High School, and what changes would you seek if elected?

The nongraded approach appears to be a good approach and time will probably prove that it is one of the best innovations that educators have come up with.

5. Do you think there is too much emphasis on vocational training at Corsicana High School and at Collins and Drane Middle Schools? Too little? Would you recommend any changes in the vocational areas?

No. Possibly too little. The outstanding vocational student is entitled to special programs and incentives just as outstanding academic students and outstanding teachers. A study should be made to consider expanding the vocational program of the Corsicana school system.

James W. Albrecht

(NOTE: this is the sixth in a series of seven interviews with School Board candidates, appearing daily in The Sun in the order in which candidates' names will be listed on the April 3 ballot. Responses were to both written and oral questions selected by The Daily Sun. All candidates run at large, rather than for specific seats.)

By SAM PENDERGRAST
Editor of The Sun

James W. Albrecht, 49, lives at 1424 Bowie Dr. and is a candidate at large for one of the three vacancies to be filled on the Corsicana Public School Board of Trustees April 3.

A resident of Corsicana for 21 years, he is a graduate of Goliad High School and Navarro Junior College.

Albrecht is employed as a salesman for the National Biscuit Company.

The father of two children, Jim, 16, and Laura, 13, Albrecht is a deacon at Westminster Presbyterian Church, a former member of the Kiwanis Club and a Boy Scout worker.

In the oral section of the survey last Monday, Albrecht was asked what, if any non-school uses he thinks should be made of vacated school property such as the old Jackson High School building, and what, if any, restrictions he thinks should be placed on such as non-school usage.

"I would recommend that these schools be made available for non-school uses if the funds can be raised to take care of an operation of that sort, and I think that a governing body should be established for that particular set-up and it should be run on a non-profit basis," Albrecht said.

On the other oral question asked all candidates whether he thinks there is too much, too little, or just about the right amount of emphasis on athletics in the total school program, and any changes he might suggest—Albrecht told The Daily Sun "I think the program as it stands today is very good and I would not contemplate any changes at the present time."

Albrecht told The Daily Sun "I don't have any bones to pick with anybody...I don't have any ax to grind. The only reason I'm running is that I'm very interested in that school out there, and I'm sold on the schools here."

In the other part of the survey, in which candidates had a weekend to consider and record answers to written questions, Albrecht's answers (with the questions printed here in bold-faced type) were:

1. Do you think it would be appropriate to have a state law making it impossible to fire teachers without giving them two years' notice? Explain your answer, if you wish.

I do not think it would be appropriate to have a state law making it impossible to fire teachers without giving them two years' notice. If such a law were put to the test, an unfavorable situation would exist for all concerned.

2. How much sex education, if any, do you think should be a part of the curriculum of Corsicana schools?

I do not believe sex education should be a part of the curriculum of the Corsicana schools. I believe this should be taught in the home and is the responsibility of the parents.

3. Do you anticipate any changes in school buildings or locations in the foreseeable future. If so, what kind of changes would you recommend?

I do not anticipate any changes in school buildings or locations in the foreseeable future.

4. Do you think the nongraded approach has been helpful at Corsicana High School, and what changes would you seek if elected?

The nongraded approach, as I understand it, has been helpful at Corsicana High School, and I am very much in favor of it.

5. Do you think there is too much emphasis on vocational training at Corsicana High School and at Collins and Drane Middle Schools? Too Little? Would you recommend any changes in the vocational areas?

I think the vocational training at Corsicana High School and Collins and Drane Middle Schools has not been and cannot be emphasized too much, and I believe it is a very important part of our school curriculum.

BAZETTE

Rev. George S. Willis, Jr.

NOTE: This is the last in a series of seven interviews with School Board candidates that have been appearing in The Daily Sun in the order of the names on the ballot April 3. Responses were to both written and oral questions selected by The Sun. All candidates run at large, rather than for specific seats.)

By SAM PENDERGRAST
Editor of The Sun

The Rev. George S. Willis, Jr., 35, of 105 North Fourth St. is another candidate for one of the three seats to be filled on the Corsicana Public Schools Board of Trustees April 3.

Pastor of a local church, he holds a Bachelor of Divinity Degree and a Bachelor of Science Degree with a major in psychology.

The Rev. Willis is the father of a son, Anthony, 12, and he has lived in Corsicana six years.

He told The Daily Sun "I think the thing that most concerns me is some kind of equal representation on the School Board that, in fact, Blacks and poor people have not had. I see that as the invisible important question that, though visible, does not receive any attention at all."

In the oral part of the survey, the Rev. Mr. Willis was asked what, if any, non-school usage he thinks should be made of vacated school property such as the old Jackson High School building and what, if any, restrictions he thinks should be placed on such non-school usage.

He told The Sun "I do advocate non-school use for the vacated Jackson School building. I advocate that it be made into a multi-purpose service center for residents of the City. And I would place no restrictions on the use of the center."

In answer to the question of whether he thinks there is too much, too little, or just about the right amount of emphasis on athletics in the total school program and what, if any changes he would suggest, the Rev. Willis said "I think the emphasis on the athletics program should reach the goal of giving our youth a total athletic program that would be in keeping with the energy that would be directed in that manner."

In the written portion of the survey, for which each candidate had a weekend to formulate and record his answers, the answers by the Rev. Willis (with the questions by The Sun printed here in bold-type) were:

1. Do you think it would be appropriate to have a state law making it impossible to fire teachers without giving them two years' notice? Explain your answer, if you wish.

No. Because the children are made to suffer needlessly. I would be more in agreement with giving them a one-year notice.

2. How much sex education, if any, do you think should be a part of the curriculum of Corsicana schools?

As much as permissible to give our youth a wholesome attitude about sex.

3. Do you anticipate any changes in school buildings or locations in the foreseeable future. If so, what kind of changes would you recommend?

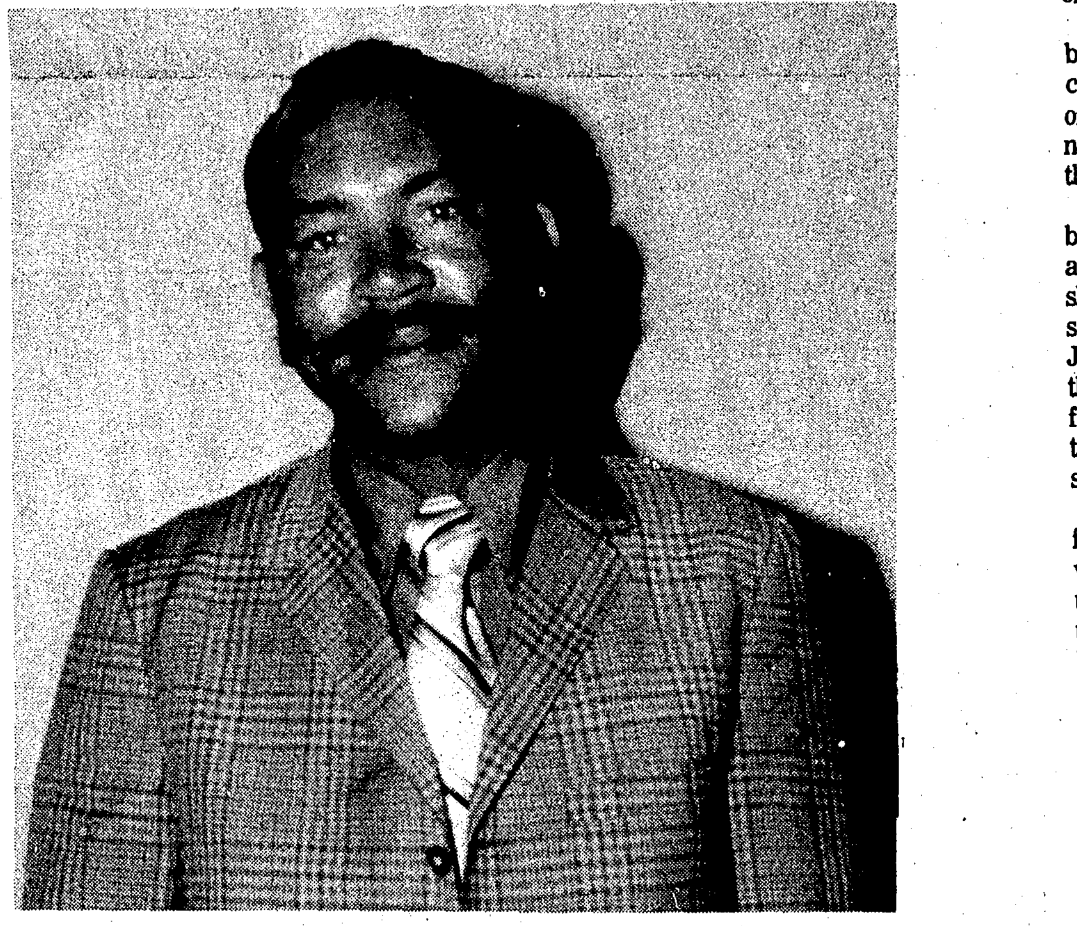
Yes. To continue to find ways to motivate the drive for and toward the learning process. I am for change, nor for change sake but as we of necessity strive for improvement.

4. Do you think the nongraded approach has been helpful at Corsicana High School, and what changes would you seek if elected?

I do not anticipate any.

5. Do you think there is too much emphasis on vocational training at Corsicana High School and at Collins and Drane Middle Schools? Too little? Would you recommend any changes in the vocational areas?

No. The vocational areas must remain fluid, so as to stay up with the needs of our society, local and national and train for available and future jobs.



Albert B. Sanders

(NOTE: This is the third in a series of seven interviews with Corsicana Schools Board of Trustees candidates. They will appear daily in the order in which the candidates' names will be listed on the April 3 ballot. Responses were to both written and oral questions selected by The Daily Sun. All candidates will run at large, rather than for specific seats.)

By SAM PENDERGRAST
Editor of The Sun

Albert B. Sanders, 40, who lives at 1303 South First St., is the manager of an East-side housing complex, the South Park Gardens Apartments, and a candidate for one of the three at-large posts in the School Board election April 3.

With Bachelor of Science and Master of Science degrees, he was for a number of years the County Agent here, where he has been a resident for 12 years.

He is the father of a daughter, Trina Yvette, 10, and a son, Tyrus Yvain, 3.

He is a member of the Kiwanis Club and the Chamber of Commerce and has been named to the Mayor's Citizens Advisory Group to study the Comprehensive Plan.

Two questions were answered orally in interviews conducted by The Daily Sun Monday, the first dealing with the question of what, if anything, the candidates think should be done with vacated school property, such as the Jackson High School building virtually destroyed by fire after being vacant since last school year.

Sanders told The Sun "Personally, I feel that when buildings are vacated they should be used as facilities, if possible, for the community. This could be done in several ways, as, for instance, you might have a sub-program from the "Y", with activities on the East Side supervised by trained leaders from the "Y".

"To me (it seems), this would definitely help the young people in finding something to do, which would help eliminate some of the destructive things that they might ordinarily be involved in.

"You could have it so designed that you could have quiet games that could be played inside.

"And you could involve the community and let the community provide supervisors—who could also help with a little financing.

"This (the Jackson campus) could be an awfully good playground area, too. And the participants need to play a great part in keeping up the place, with pride.

"As for restrictions," he concluded, "you've just got to have some rules and regulations, if you're going to have anything..."

On the other oral question, about the amount of emphasis placed on athletics in the total school program, Sanders said "I think the athletic department is real good here, but you need more involvement of more students, and the students need to be motivated so that they will want to participate in athletics at all levels.

"But, as far as I know, our athletic staff is just wonderful."

In the written part of the survey, in which The Sun gave each candidate two days to consider his answers and put them in written form, Sander's answers to the five questions (with the questions printed here in bold-faced type) were:

1. Do you think it would be appropriate to have a state law making it impossible to fire teachers without giving them two years' notice? Explain your answer, if you wish.

No.

2. How much sex education, if any, do you think should be a part of the curriculum of Corsicana schools?

Very little, if any. If this is to be a part of the curriculum, I think it should be with the parents' approval of their children. It should be taught within the middle school or high school, if approved.

3. Do you anticipate any changes in school buildings or locations in the foreseeable future. If so, what kind of changes would you recommend?

No, however I would like to see Lincoln Elementary school remain in the community. Also, if changes are made, they should be made in all schools with grades 1-2-3 in Lincoln and others in our elementary schools, rather than closing Lincoln, for instance, and sending all children there into other schools. In other words, the building should be kept open and used.

4. Do you think the nongraded approach has been helpful at Corsicana High School, and what changes would you seek if elected?

Yes, this is very good. It has advantages and disadvantages. The unitary approach is good and it works good for phase 1 and help in other phases.

5. Do you think there is too much emphasis on vocational training at Corsicana High School and at Collins and Drane Middle Schools? Too Little? Would you recommend any changes in the vocational area?

No, the vocational training is good. I would recommend that other areas be added such as brick masonry, industrial education, carpentering and other trades that vocational students can learn that we can use in our city.

Editor of The Sun

Leland Cook, 37, who lives at 1100 Dobbins Rd. and is circulation manager for The Daily Sun, is another candidate for one of the three vacancies to be filled on the School Board in the election April 3.

A graduate of Texas A&M University, with additional college work at the University of Oklahoma and McMurry College, he is the father of five sons: Byron, 16; Rob, 14; Ken, 13; Lance, 11; and Brad, 1.

He moved to Corsicana four years ago and has been a member of the Rotary Club (where he is a director and vice-president-elect), the Corsicana Boosters Club, the Bulldog Club, and the First Baptist Church.

He also belongs to the Bowie P.T.A., Collins P. T. A. (where he is vice-president-elect), Collins Dad's Club (also past president), and the Chamber of Commerce (where he serves on the Industrial Relations Committee and is a red-blazer "Ambassador").

He is a former member of the Jaycees and was a director when he was eligible for the organization.

He is also a Freshman League baseball coach and a Gra-Y coach and has served in the drive of the United Fund and as a neighborhood commissioner for the Boy Scouts.

In the oral portion of the survey by The Daily Sun, Cook was asked what, if anything, he thinks should be done with vacated school properties such as the Jackson High School building that was virtually destroyed by fire recently, and what restrictions should be place on any non-school uses for such properties.

He told The Sun "I certainly feel we should make such vacated buildings available, unless we have some other school use for them. Or, naturally, the building could be razed to make the lot available for some (other school use).

But if you just leave an empty building—in a sense, a shell—you are leaving yourself open for it to be vandalized.

"Certainly, I would think we'd have to put some kind of restrictions (on use). We'd have to take a look at what the proposed use would be. We couldn't make it available just because somebody wants to use it. I think we could make use of a lot of such buildings for recreation facilities. I think we're short on recreation facilities in Corsicana, and I think certain buildings presently used as schools could be used in summertime—particularly the gyms—for arts and crafts classes and tumbling and volleyball, for instance, and other supervised physical activities.

"I think it wouldn't be too expensive a program, because you could use sollege students to supervise. But, of course, all that again goes back to money."

Asked how he felt about emphasis of athletics in the total school program, Cook said, "I think we have a fine athletic program. We certainly have some of the outstanding coaches in the state, as the records bear out. But I feel there could be improvements, not in personnel but in some of the facilities they have to work with. Again, I realize all of this would cost money, but our football and track facilities are just not as adequate as the gymnasium for indoor sports."

In the other part of the interview, involving five questions for which each candidate had two days to think about and write his answers, Cook's answers (with questions printed in bold-faced type) were:

1. Do you think it would be appropriate to have a state law making it impossible to fire teachers without giving them two years' notice? Explain your answer, if you wish.

The teaching profession today faces many problems, and it is important that we work to help solve these problems. We must encourage and appreciate our teachers as a vital part of the educational system. At the same time, we must be realistic. We all want to feel secure in our jobs, but the pending legislation calling for two years notice before end of tenure would only be a detriment to the teaching profession and, most important, to the students.

2. How much sex education, if any, do you think should be a part of the curriculum of Corsicana schools?

My personal feeling is that sex education is best handled by parents, but I realize it is too often neglected. If such a course were to be offered in our public schools I would not support its introduction unless I was certain we could obtain a very competent teacher, one who would be prepared to present the spiritual, moral, and social aspects as well as the clinical.

3. Do you anticipate any changes in school buildings or locations in the foreseeable future. Is so, what kind of changes would you recommend?

I do not anticipate any, other than those necessary to meet government standards. Certainly as the school district grows and with probably population shifts, there will have to be additions.

4. Do You think the nongraded approach has been helpful at Corsicana High School, and what changes would you seek if elected?

Observing my own son's work in the nongraded program, I think this approach will expand and stimulate students' interest in education. Naturally, there will be improvements and adjustments in the program, but I feel that our educators are on the right track.

5. Do you think there is too much emphasis on vocational training at Corsicana High School and at Collins and Drane Middle Schools? Too little? Would you recommend any changes in the vocational areas?

Definitely not. This is a much-needed program and a tremendous asset to our school system. As Corsicana attracts new industry, we are going to need people trained to fill new jobs, and, besides, we owe it to our young people to provide an opportunity for them to prepare themselves for the countless careers in technology and industry that are available to those with intelligence and ambition who simply are not interested in completing academic programs in college.

Meet Your School Board Candidates

HUGH V. FULLERTON, JR.

(NOTE: This is the first in a series of seven interviews with Corsicana Schools Board of Trustees candidates. They will appear daily in the order in which the candidates' names will be listed on the April 3 ballot. Responses were to both written and oral questions selected by The Daily Sun. All candidates will run at large, rather than for specific seats.)

Hugh V. Fullerton, Jr., 42, lives at 1359 N. Beaton St. He is a candidate for re-election to the Board of Trustees, having completed one three-year term on the Board and served a part of a term after the resignation of a former member.

He is a life-long resident of Corsicana, in the retail grocery business, and a member of the Wesley Methodist Church.

A graduate of Corsicana High School, he attended Navarro Junior College.

He is the father of a son, Bill, 17; and a daughter, Ann, 14.

Two oral questions Monday dealt with candidates' evaluation of the athletic program and suggested uses for vacated school buildings.

Asked if he thinks there is "enough—too much—or just about the right amount of emphasis on athletics in the total school program" and what changes he might suggest, Fullerton replied "I wouldn't recommend any changes. I think we have had a great athletic program. We need a strong athletic program to develop our children."

The question on what to do with vacated school property, delivered identically to all candidates, was: "The former Jackson High School building was virtually destroyed by fire after being vacant since last school year. Do you think it is possible or advisable to make any such present or future vacated school buildings available for non-school uses? What kind of uses would you suggest, and what restrictions, if any, would you place on such non-school uses?"

Fullerton told The Daily Sun "I think it would be good for these schools to be used in some manner. Of course, a vacated building is an eyesore as far as the public is concerned, and subject to vandalism.

"Now, of course, on the Jackson property, we had hoped that there would be some commercial or community use of that building, which has not materialized.

"As to the old Sam Houston School building, the Board's plan was to utilize this property for future school use—possibly as the site of the School Administration offices, so that we could dispose of the present downtown office building.

"But, at the present time, we don't have the finances to renovate the Sam Houston property, and the funds are just simply not available until we sell the other property. Then, too, the proceeds (from) any sale of property would have to be evaluated, because other schools need repairs..."

In the written part of the survey, in which each candidate had two days to consider his answers and put them in written form, Fullerton's answers to the five questions (with the questions in bold-face type) were:

1. Do you think it would be appropriate to have a state law making it impossible to fire teachers without giving them two years' notice? Explain your answer, if you wish.

"I think every business needs a system of personnel evaluation. The same would be true in the school system. Also, teachers deserve to have working conditions that are secure and fair. Therefore, I would favor legislation which would provide for effective evaluation of school personnel and, on the other hand, insure a fair system of job security."

2. How much sex education, if any, do you think should be a part of the curriculum of Corsicana schools?

"When we discuss sex education, it should be taught on religious and moral principles. Therefore, I think our children need the information necessary to be informed and well-adjusted individuals."

3. Do you anticipate any changes in school buildings or locations in the foreseeable future? If so, what kind of changes would you recommend?

"Every effort should be made to keep our school buildings in the best condition possible. At the present time, no new locations are under consideration."

4. Do you think the nongraded approach has been helpful at Corsicana High School, and what changes would you seek if elected?

"I think it has been helpful because it emphasizes the need of the individual student."

5. Do you think there is too much emphasis on vocational training at Corsicana High School and at Collins and Drane Middle Schools? Too little? Would you recommend any changes in the vocational areas?

"I think that, finally, we have recognized the importance of both vocational and academic training for our students. It seems to me that public school education should have instructions for all students. A strong academic program is very vital. The same is true of vocational education. I would recommend constant evaluation of all these programs."

SYNTHETIC AIDS: One of the greatest aids to sewers using synthetic fabrics is Poly-Bond thread, a three-ply thread, stabilized electronically for increased strength and reduced knotting and snarling tendencies. Poly-Bond is also waxed for smoother sewing.

Poly-Bond possesses two very important characteristics essential for sewing on synthetic fabrics: one is that it does not shrink; second, it stretches and recovers, adding necessary ease in synthetic knits and preventing seams from popping.

Nymo, another synthetic thread is recommended for use on special fabrics which require extra seam strength such as tricot, synthetic jersey and powernet.

Nymo is bonded filaments of nylon-sixty-eight strands in all. This allows qualities of strength translucency and extreme stretch and recovery. These qualities make it ideal for sewing, mending lingerie, ski wear and stretch fabrics.

Be sure to ask your favorite sewing center saleslady for help.

There are many new fabrics on the market and home sewing is easier now than ever before. Be sure to read the labels on the fabric bolts and the hang tags on ready-to-wear garments. Be an informed consumer.

FOOD BRIEFS:
PROTEIN FOODS: Two to three ounces of cooked meat, fish or poultry is considered a serving. When planning meatless meals for adults and teen-agers, count 2 slices Cheddar cheese, 2 jumbo eggs, or 1 cup cooked beans as a serving.

LEFTOVERS: Thin slices of day-old bread spread with softened butter, then sprinkled with Parmesian cheese and toasted until crisp make an excellent accompaniment for soups or salads.

MEAT LEFTOVERS: An easy way to use up leftover bits of meat, fish, or chicken is to combine with a thin cream sauce and cooked noodles or rice in a casserole dish.

STORING MILK: Nutrients in milk are destroyed by heat and light, so keep the container out of the refrigerator just long enough to pour the amount you plan to use. Milk removed from the original container should not be returned to it.

LEFT OVER CHEESE: If leftover cheese has dried too much for sandwiches, grate and use it as a topping for casseroles or creamed dishes.

YARD AND GARDEN CLINIC: You are cordially invited to attend the Yard Clinic sponsored by the Extension Service on Thursday, March 25. This clinic will be held in the Navarro Mall Shopping Center from 10 o'clock until 5:30. Specialist from Texas A&M University and agents will be on hand to discuss problems. Bring specimens of your problems if you wish.

CLEANING FOLIAGE PLANTS: Dusting foliage plants used indoor landscaping is the key to keeping them bright and attractive. Clean the leaves once or twice a month with a soft camel hair brush, soft cheese cloth or with a damp cloth or sponge. Dust gently and carefully as brusing and kinking the leaf surface will cause discoloration and blemishes.

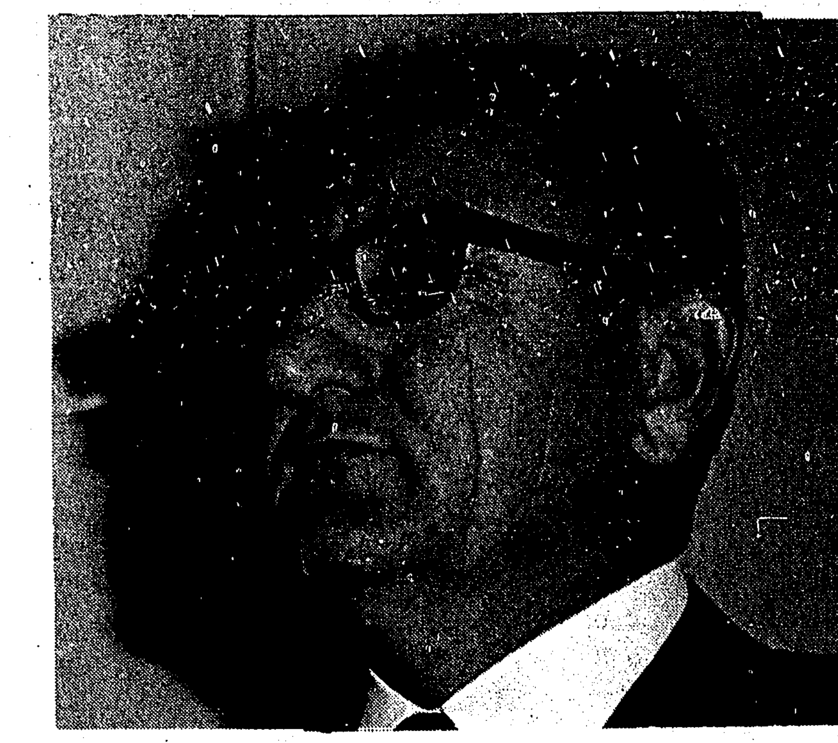
When dusting, the natural oil and waxes on the leaf surface will usually produce a high gloss. If the leaves are extremely soiled, they may be washed with a mild soap-warm water solution before polishing. Let the leaves air dry, then polish.

Several commercial leaf polishes are now available. Plants should be watered several hours prior to using these polishes, since dry plants tend absorb the polish more quickly. Such rapid absorption can cause foliage burn. Do not use oil of any kind.

Plants with hairy leaves are more difficult to clean. Occasional syringing of such plants with clean, warm water is very beneficial. Don't use water that is colder than room temperature; cold water can cause leaf spotting in certain plants. Occasiinal syringing will also help keep plants free from red spider mites and mealy bugs.

PLANNING FOR SAFETY: Accidents don't just happen. They are caused when senior citizens fail to follow the basic steps of safety in the home. To help prevent accidents from falls, use bannisters or railings along stairways, and around porches. Install hand grippers near the bath tub, shower or toilet.

Adequate lighting can be an important safety aid, too. Provide good lighting in halls, basements and attics, and use nightlights in bedroom, bathroom and hall areas. Place a light within easy bedside reach. And remember to use a light; when working over the sink and stove in the kitchen.



Raymond Hampel, Jr.

NOTE: This is the second in a series of seven interviews with Corsicana School Board of Trustees candidates. They will appear daily in the order in which the candidates' names will be listed on the April 3 ballot. Responses were to both written and oral questions selected by The Daily Sun. All candidates will run at large, rather than for specific seats.)

By SAM PENDERGRAST
Editor of The Sun

Raymond Hampel, Jr., 43, lives at 1104 Dobbins Rd.

He is a candidate for one of the three positions to be filled on the School Board.

The manager of Navarro County Electric Cooperative, he is a high school graduate with some work in college.

A resident of Corsicana for the past ten years, he has one daughter, Linda Hampel Smith, 20, and a son, John Scott, 6.

He is a deacon at Westminster Presbyterian Church and a member and past president of the Corsicana Rotary Club. On the Boards of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce and the Corsicana Y.M.C.A., he is co-chairman of the Navarro County Youth Exposition and a member of the Building Committee of the Navarro County Program.

In an oral interview with The Daily Sun Monday, he was asked if he thinks there is "enough—too much—or just about the right amount of emphasis on athletics in the total school program" and what changes he might suggest.

He told The Sun "Well, number one, I think as far as your school system itself is concerned they have a fine, well-rounded atheltic program. As for emphasis, I think maybe the people—or the "fans"—place either too much or not enough emphasis on the program, because on a Friday night during football season the stands are full. We have a few out for the basketball games. And very few for baseball. And, as for the others, I don't know what the attendance would be—for tennis, probably, very little..."

The question on what to do with vacated school property, delivered identically to all candidates, was: "The former Jackson High School building was virtually destroyed by fire after being vacant since last school year. Do you think it is possible or advisable to make any such present or future vacated school buildings available for non-school uses? What kind of uses would you suggest, and what restrictions, if any, would you place on such non-school uses?"

Hampel answered "I don't know what a school district can do with a vacant building, as far as renting, leasing or giving it away. But I'd rather see a building used—for something, rather than just sit there and go down. If it's possible, it should be sold."

In the written part of the survey, in which each candidate had two days to consider his answers and put them in written form, Hampel's answers to the five questions (with the questions in bold-face type) were:

1. Do you think it would be appropriate to have a state law making it impossible to fire teachers without giving them two years' notice? Explain your answer, if you wish.

No. I feel that a teacher as well as any other person who has just cause to be fired should be dismissed immediately and not after a two-year notice. It doesn't seem reasonable that any person will perform a job satisfactorily knowing that in two years he or she will be fired.

2. How much sex education, if any, do you think should be a part of the curriculum of Corsicana schools?

I honestly don't know and could not reach a decision on the matter until I see a curriculum.

3. Do you anticipate any changes in school buildings or locations in the foreseeable future? If so, what kind of changes would you recommend?

With the recent changes we have just had in our school buildings and locations I do not anticipate any changes in the near future. I could not at this time make any recommendations for changes in the future without the knowledge or detailed study of the reason the changes may be needed.

4. Do you think the nongraded approach has been helpful at Corsicana High School, and what changes would you seek if elected?

The comments I've heard and the information I've received about the nongraded approach in Corsicana High School all indicate the system has been helpful. I have not had the opportunity to thoroughly study the system so I could not offer any intelligent recommendations to change it.

5. Do you think there is too much emphasis on vocational training at Corsicana High School and at Collins and Drane Middle Schools? Too Little? Would you recommend any changes in the vocational areas?

I do not think there is too much emphasis on vocational training in our high school or middle schools. A child who does not have an opportunity to go to college or does not choose to go certainly will be better equipped to find a job after receiving the vocational training he has in our schools. The only change I might recommend would be expansion of the program in phases not presently taught, such as the building trades (carpentry, plumbing, wiring).

State Passing Buck In College Loans Flap

Our Navarro Junior College, along with a number of other Texas colleges, was given a blackeye yesterday by the State College Coordinating Board with a blow that should more properly be called, "Hitting below the belt."

NJC was put on a list of thirty schools dropped from the state's student loan program because their delinquency list on collection of Texas Opportunity Plan(TOP) loans exceeded 10 percent. This implied the colleges are charged with the responsibility of collecting the loans, which they are not.

The State College Coordinating Board is the organization that approves and collects the loans. The loan repayment does not even pass through the hands of the colleges. Why should Navarro be punished for the failure of the state board?

Furthermore, this action is punishment on the delinquent student, or ex-student, but elimates the possibility of deserving students obtaining a loan, when they had nothing what-so-ever to do with the delinquency.

These facts have not been emphasized in information coming out of Austin. No, they prefer to use their omnipotent power to throw the monkey off their back on to the defenseless colleges.

A quick glance at the list of colleges tagged with this "black list" label will reveal that almost all the colleges are either junior colleges or colleges with predominant Negro enrollment.

It's rather obvious these schools have students that may be a higher risk than those attending many other colleges.

Junior colleges are more likely to have a high percentage of delinquents, too, because the students who go on to a senior college are transferred off the loan rolls of the junior college. Those who drop out of school in those first two years, however, are kept on the junior college rolls. Thus, the student who is most likely to pay his debt is put on the senior college rolls and the junior college is left with the ones who will have more difficulty in paying the debt.

The whole business is just grossly unfair to the colleges and the innocent students. It has to be corrected in Austin, however, and not in the local college communities.

The total number of students listed as delinquent from NJC is eleven. And, it is questionable if some of these are actually delinquent. At least one of these claims to have paid off the loan sometime ago.

It seems to us this whole problem evolves around the poor handling of the program in Austin. We hope our representatives there, Sen. Charles Wilson and Rep. Jack Hawkins, will take a hand in uncovering the problem and correcting it.—Tucker Sutherland, Publisher.

New Food Program Enrolls400

By BILL LAWRENCE
Staff Writer

Nearly 400 Navarro County families have enrolled in the Adult Phase of the Expanded Nutrition Program which began on Feb. 22. The announcement was made Tuesday by Gene Sears, County Extension Service agent.

The purpose of the program is to help needy families to gain a greater understanding of nutrition according to Sears. He said "Families will be taught how to prepare and serve the most nutritious and economic meal possible which can be done through an educational process."

The program, which was initiated by the Texas A&M University Extension Service, and is funded by a goverment grant, is under the direct supervision of the County Home Demonstration Agents, Mrs. Gloria F. Herod and Mrs. Tressie L. Langston.

Mrs. Herod and Mrs. Langston trained eight qualified aides who will make individual home visits and give educational foods and nutrition information to needy families.

The aides received three weeks of intensive training on information pertaining to the following objectives:

Families living in the Corsicana area are to be helped to acquire knowledge, skills and changed behavior necessary for achieving adequate diets. Such a program can be expected to result in increased:

—Knowledge of the essentials of good nutrition.

—Ability to plan nutritious meals and snacks

—Ability to select and buy low-cost foods that satisfy nutritional needs.

—Ability to use food stamps wisely.

—Ability to prepare and serve palatable meals.

—Ability to manage money and other resources.

—Participation in the food program of the Department of Agriculture.

Aslo the program can be expected to result in improved:

—Practices in storage and sanitation.

—Coordination and use of resources offered by other agencies and organizations in the community by families enrolled in the program.

Sears pointed out that priority will be given to homemakers with children, women who are pregnant and youth.

The program's assistant supervisor is Mrs. Shirley Adams. She will be working with aides Miss Gloria Ann Anderson, Miss Barbara Dean Brookins, Mrs. Dorothy Mae Edmerson, Mrs. Mary Jane Hutchings, Mrs. Clara M. Jackson, Mrs. Alma Jean Reese, Mrs. Judith Bonner Tackett and Mrs. Gwendolyn J. Washington.
